Would you like free home products to support your health and well-being?

We're working with the Government to offer you home improvement products for free, delivered by E.ON's 'Homes for Living' team.

E.ON working in partnership to improve lives

We have secured funding to support the Government's mission to improve the quality of lives lived longer. Did you know that 10 million Brits alive today can expect to reach 100 years old? To support this, we are working in partnership with Invisible Creations®, Newcastle University and local authorities across the Midlands to offer solutions that will help people live comfortably in their homes for longer by increasing independence and well-being.

The importance of supporting independent living

Did you know that 15% of people over the age of 65 have some unmet care needs?

The minute you are born you are ageing, but getting older doesn't have to mean a decline in mobility. Research shows that by being active and mobile at home, people of all ages can improve their physical abilities and quality of life with the right support solutions in place.

How home modifications can help

The problem is that people are delaying making their home safer because of the clinical appearance of most modifications.

Did you know that simple home modifications can reduce falls that need medical attention by 26% and save the NHS £500m each year?

There is strong evidence that making minor changes to homes is an effective way to prevent falls and injuries, improving performance of everyday activities and mental health.

This is why the 'Homes for Living' team at E.ON are offering stylish and simple dual-purpose products for free because we want to improve the quality of peoples' lives. Read on to find out how you can join us on our mission.

What are the next steps?

Once you've registered your interest, our team will be in touch to discuss and better understand your personal circumstances. A free home survey will be arranged to confirm the suitability of the products we can provide.

Once you've decided, we can arrange for these products to be installed in your home for free. If you would like any more, you can purchase them by getting in contact with us.

Additionally, as part of the scheme, we ask that you complete a 15-minute questionnaire on 3 occasions; one before you receive the products, the second one will be three months after, and the final one will be after six months. Your feedback is key to building our understanding and will enable us to continue developing suitable solutions designed to improve the quality of peoples' lives across the UK. In return, we will provide you with regular updates of our findings over the next three years and provide insights and solutions to help you and others live healthily and independently, for longer.

Who can benefit from this?

This scheme is for both E.ON customers and non-E.ON customers. If you have already been through our E.ON Warm Homes Fund scheme, you could be eligible. Eligibility is based on household income and receipt of certain benefits by someone living in the property. Our team will run through this with you when you contact us.

We're already making a difference to peoples' lives

Russ Bradford, 48 years old, and Charlotte Allen, 53, have benefitted from our products. They have created a beautiful home and they didn't want to fill it with stigmatising products. Russ said: "Most products on the market designed to support you living independently look cheap, unattractive, and very clinical."

Invisible Creations® offer a fantastic alternative to this, with a range of high quality, well-designed products that not only provide a practical solution to mobility issues, but do this in a modern, tasteful way.

"The products support your independence. The longer you can manage to do things for yourself, helps to increase your confidence and give you a sense of purpose. You can enjoy more freedom having a better quality of life."

"I love the products. They're very stylish and help you live a better life. I don't have to worry about tripping or falling as the products reassure me and create independence. I truly believe the products will improve people's lives." says Charlotte.

Susan also loved how stylish the products look in her new home and told us how vital they are to help support her and her husband's health and prolong their independence.
